

Aerial photo of the Hudson river with water chestnut beds on the left hand side of the river (light green over the water). Photo by Kara Goodwin.

Close-up view of water chestnut beds on Hudson river. Photo by Kara Goodwin.

Aerial view of Hudson river with water chestnut beds. Photo by Kara Goodwin.

Dr. Nina Caraco and Senior Research Specialist Heather Malcom deep within a water chestnut bed.

Water chestnut: trapa natans. Photo by Heather Malcom.

Water chestnut form thick, dense beds with roots that are very difficult to untangle! Photo by Heather Malcom.

Native water celery bed (Vallisneria Americana). Photo courtesy of Dr. Stuart Findlay.